INTERNATIONAL BANKING GROUP APPOINTS GRADUATE LEADERSHIP TRAINEE

International Banking Group is pleased to announce the selection of Mr. Jamie Wilson as their first Graduate Leadership Trainee.

At the end of February 2009, International Banking Group launched its unique and prestigious Graduate Leadership Programme which would allow for one talented young Belonger to benefit from a fast-track career to management through an intensive training programme exposing the person to all retail and commercial banking departments.

Following a challenging interview process including a maths & logic aptitude test, a 500 word essay and a behavioural interview, Mr. Jamie Wilson was selected.

Upon announcing this decision, Mr. Ivan Browne, President & Chief Executive of International Banking Group said:

“We are so pleased and excited about Jamie joining us as our first Graduate Leadership Trainee. He is an exceptional person with plenty of talent and determination. He is also charismatic and friendly and will be an asset to our organisation. I have no doubt that he will have a long and successful career with us at International Banking Group.

“The Graduate Leadership Programme was designed to give the candidate the best grounding for reaching the highest levels of management in the banking industry in the long term. Jamie is just the candidate we were looking for as he will be able to maximise the benefit derived from the programme thanks to his positive attitude and desire for learning.”

Jamie’s roots are to be found in South Caicos – his grandparents are Rev. Peter Hall and Beatrice Louise Hall and his parents are Sherill Hall and Bryan Wilson. Although Jamie was born in the Bahamas he has spent much of his youth in the TCI. He took the opportunity offered by International Banking Group’s Graduate Leadership Programme to return home and build a successful career in the banking sector.

As well as outstanding results in school, including the Governor’s Award for Academics in the Bahamas, Jamie is also an avid sportsman and has been successful in a range of extra-curricular activities. He is due to graduate from Brock University in Canada in December 2009 with a Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration following which he will begin the extensive training programme in Cayman.

On accepting the position Jamie added:

"I am honoured to be accepted as a member of the International Banking Group team and I am very excited about the opportunity to make a positive contribution to the company. I believe that my experiences, business/scholastic qualifications and most of all, my proactive attitude will be a great fit with the bank. I look forward to growing with and being a part of the bank's success."

Dr Kellie-Ann Evans-Hall, Vice President of Human Resources at International Banking Group said:

"International Banking Group is committed to identifying, recruiting, training and retaining talented local staff. The Graduate Leadership Programme helps us achieve success in this respect, and work towards the long-term aspiration to see Belongers take up positions in all levels of management. Jamie is a fantastic candidate and puts this programme in good stead for the future."

The Graduate Leadership Programme provides for up to three years of training, split between Cayman and TCI, in all banking departments, building a sound foundation for a long career in banking as well as a specialisation in an area that best matches the candidates' natural aptitude and areas of interest with business needs. Following the three year training programme, the candidate will come back to assume a management position at International Banking Group's headquarters in Providenciales.
