

PRESS RELEASE

1 December 2009

INTERNATIONAL BANKING GROUP EXPANDS TEAM

Following the last set of start dates in October, International Banking Group welcomes three more staff members to the team.

Mrs. Rochelle Thompson, originally from Grand Turk is taking up a key role in the organisation as Senior Vice President Service Delivery and will be responsible for overseeing and directing all customer service and operation activities. She brings with her nearly 20 years of banking experience developed at Scotiabank, starting as Teller in 1990 until becoming branch manager.

Ivan Browne, President & Chief Executive of International Banking Group said of Rochelle's move:

"I am delighted to be welcoming Mrs. Thompson to our team. Taking the leap from an international bank with an established history in the Turks and Caicos to International Banking Group demonstrates Mrs. Thompson's thirst for new challenges and career development."

"For us, her move is a real coup – Mrs. Thompson has an invaluable insight into the local market and her track record of consistently exceeding expectations as well as her professional and friendly disposition will be a real asset to International Banking Group."

Mrs. Thompson said of her move:

"My time at Scotiabank was invaluable in terms of developing my skills and my career and after 19 years I wanted to take on a new challenge. While International Banking Group has the benefit of its relationship with Cayman National, it is also seeking to establish itself as a local bank with unbeatable service. I am delighted to be taking on this venture with my new colleagues in our headquarters in Providenciales."

Mrs. Christine Dickenson joins International Banking Group as Manager Customer Services & Sales. Following almost 30 years in banking in Canada, including at leader-in-service TD

Bank Financial Group, Mrs. Dickenson adds to the already rich and varied experience of the team at International Banking Group.

Finally, Ms. Ena Williams joins the bank as Senior Supervisor Card Services. This follows a career in financial services which started in 1997 and included experience at some of the leading financial intermediaries in the TCI including and most recently at Meridian Trust Company.

Ivan Browne commented on the new staff saying:

“We set out at the on-set of our recruitment to do everything we could to find talented local persons and our senior team is testament to the success of our strategy so far. Needless to say, I am very happy with the team we have created so far, and in particular, with their focus on seeking to deliver never-before-seen levels of customer service in the TCI.”

International Banking Group is aiming to begin operations with a complement of nearly 40 staff including one Graduate Trainee. A number of positions remain open and interested persons are asked to consult the dedicated web page on www.ibgtci.com/jobs.
